Faculty of Social Sciences Year in Review

2019/2020

SOCIAL SCIENCES

McMaster
University

Preface

Over the past year, the Faculty of Social Sciences community has gone above and beyond their usual responsibilities to support each other through the pandemic. Faculty, staff and students worked diligently to adjust to safe alternatives for teaching and learning. Departments cancelled conferences and events to ensure public safety. Recruitment and advising efforts shifted entirely online. The campus shut down. Still, our people showed resilience and creativity, supporting and encouraging one another through this unprecedented season in McMaster's history.

We thank and praise all of our community members for their unwavering commitment to research, education and community impact.

The 2019-20 Year in Review provides a numerical summary of the changes and accomplishments that have taken place over the past year. This fourth edition highlights key activities and achievements of our community members and provides some year-over-year comparisons.

This document is not intended for external audiences; rather, the primary audience is internal to the university, including the faculty, staff and students within the Faculty of Social Sciences.

As our internal data-gathering processes evolve, we will continue to improve and evolve this annual document to provide you with the fullest picture of our Faculty's situation.

The compilation of this report is a team effort. I want to thank all those who contributed to the production of the 2019-20 Year in Review.

Honorary degree

At the joint Faculties of Business, Humanities, Social Sciences, and Arts & Science Program convocation on November 21, 2019, an honorary degree was conferred to the following individual.

Eva Egron-Polak served as the secretary general of the International Association of Universities from 2002 to 2017 and held various senior positions at Universities Canada (formerly the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada) for two decades, culminating in the position of vice-president, international programs.

She has been a member of the governing council of the Magna Charta Observatory since 2012 and is the co-author of the 2015 Internationalisation of Higher Education study for the European Parliament's Committee on Culture and Education. In addition to remaining involved with the IAU as a senior fellow, Egron-Polak is a member of the executive board of Global Access to Post-Secondary Education (GAPS). She received her honorary degree on Thursday, November 21.

Research and scholarly activities

Researchers in Social Sciences are leading and participating in projects that tackle many of the most important social, political and economic challenges of our day. The Faculty has particular strength in applied, policy- and community-focused research in partnership with diverse organizations, agencies and groups from the not-for-profit sector, the private sector and all levels of government. These collaborations are especially strong at the local and regional level but extend provincially, nationally and internationally. Below are indicators of the quality and scope of our research activities.

Research funding

$3.9 MILLION in new research funding

108 Applications submitted	58% Success rate	56 Applications submitted by faculty

Social Sciences internal and external research funding

Like nearly everything else in 2019-20 the disruption caused by COVID-19 drew a clear line in the research funding cycle. Prior to the pandemic, 62 Social Sciences faculty and postdoctoral fellows applied for and were awarded research funding as principal investigators (PIs) valued at over $3.3 million.<sup>1</sup> With COVID-19 came a wave of new funding opportunities and FSS researchers quickly pivoted their research acumen to study this new threat and the impact it is having on our society. New research funding for COVID-19 specific research calls totalled over $500,000.

2019-20 New Funding	Tri-Council	Non-Tri Council	McMaster	COVID-19	Total
Total new	$2,708,491	$575,384	$102,469	$519,778	$3,906,122

Applications for research funding

It was another banner year for grant success in the Faculty of Social Sciences. Of the 11 SSHRC Insight Grants submitted in October 2019, six were awarded, for a 54 per cent success rate. Of the nine SSHRC Insight Development Grants submitted in February 2020, six were awarded, for a 67 percent success rate. Of the six faculty who applied to the new SSHRC Partnership Engage Grant program and three who applied to the Connection program, 100 per cent were successful. We were also successful in securing a prestigious SSHRC Partnership Grant.

In total, Social Sciences faculty members and postdoctoral fellows submitted 108 applications for research funding as the Principal Investigator. Fifty-eight per cent of these applications were successful, attracting over $3.9 million in new research funding to the Faculty, 29 per cent of which came from federal Tri-Council agencies, with the balance from other external funders and internal sources. It is noteworthy that the Faculty of Social Sciences maintained a stellar success rate when nearly half of the applications were submitted in the last quarter, on a topic never before studied, in competitions that had not previously existed and that were administered in great haste. Even without the regular time to prepare, the Faculty of Social Sciences achieved excellence.

2019-20 Totals	Tri-Council	Non-Tri Council	Internal Funding	COVID-19 Funding	TOTAL
Total # of applications submitted:	32	10	20	46	108
Total # of applications awarded:	23	7	17	16	47
Success rate applied vs. funded:	72%	70%	85%	35%	58%
Total funds awarded:	$2,708,491	$575,384	$120,469	$519,778	$3,906,122

Faculty of Social Sciences research awards

The Early Career Researcher Award recognizes research excellence by an early-stage faculty member as demonstrated through contributions to one's field of study, an ability to provide a stimulating and challenging research environment that incorporates students and teaching and an ability to communicate research results effectively. The 2020 Early Career Researcher Award recipients are Vanessa Watts (Sociology) and Adam Lavecchia (Economics).

The Impact Award recognizes outstanding long-term research outcomes that take the form of changed thinking, behaviours and policy, research impacts, knowledge mobilization, and/or outreach activities. The 2020 recipients are Gary Dumbrill (Social Work) and Arthur Sweetman (Economics).

Tara La Rose (Social Work) is the 2020 Scholar-in-Community Fellow. The fellowship provides the opportunity for research collaborations with community organizations to produce and mobilize knowledge in ways that are mutually beneficial.

Research chairs and professorships

The Faculty of Social Sciences has attracted and retained some of the world's most accomplished and promising scholars, internationally recognized for research excellence.

Research partners

Faculty and researchers from the Faculty of Social Sciences partner with diverse organizations and agencies locally, regionally, provincially, nationally and internationally. Our research partners stretch across all sectors, including

- Federal government
- Government of Ontario
- Other provincial governments
- Municipalities and regional organizations
- Indigenous Nations and organizations
- Non-profit and community organizations
- Post-secondary institutions
- Private business organizations
- Professional organizations and associations
- Think tanks and research organizations
- Trade unions

See Appendix A for a selection of these research partners.

Knowledge exchange and mobilization

In 2019-20, members of McMaster's Social Sciences community organized and hosted more than 50 conferences, symposia and workshops to ensure faculty and graduate student research was widely shared across campus and beyond.

However, this number does not capture the many events that were cancelled or postponed due to the public health pandemic responses and recommendations. While the events through early March reflect the Faculty's vibrant event culture, the months onward reflect the reality of the COVID-19 season. We look forward to resuming our regular events in the coming years.

Social media

The Faculty of Social Sciences runs three main social media channels, a Facebook page, Twitter account and an Instagram account. In 2020, we reassessed our social media practices in order to more strategically develop and deliver content to the unique audiences on each platform. In 2020-21, we will be rolling out new social media content strategy, best practices and guidelines for Social Sciences content creators.

Experiential Education

The Faculty of Social Sciences offers varied and enriching experiential learning opportunities for our students that promote strong connections between academic studies, career exploration and community involvement.

Our experiential programming falls into four broad areas of activity: supporting students' professional development; experiential placements in workplace settings; awards and funding to support students' experiential learning; and partnering with community organizations to provide students with community-engaged learning opportunities.

Professional development

160 students enrolled in courses with an experiential component through departments and 268 participants in Experiential Education workshops and events

Experiential placements

24 career placements, 23 paid internships

Awards and grants

$112,550 in funds awarded

Community partnering

Partnered with over 80 organizations in the not-for-profit sector, public sector and private industry

Professional or skills development

A total of 264 students enrolled in two Experiential Education courses designed to support students' professional or skill development:

- SOC SCI 2ELO: Career Planning Through Experiential Learning
- SOC SCI 3EL3: Leadership Through Experiential Learning

An additional 268 students participated in Experiential Education workshops and events that promote professional development, career planning and career networking, including the following:

- Career Prep Days
- Human Resources Recruiter Panel
- Career Conversations (Law and Social Work)
- Sociology Society Resume Workshop
- Health, Aging and Society Student Association Career Night
- EE Open House/Outreach Events
- HIRE McMaster Careers in Federal Government Panel
- HIRE McMaster Careers in Government Job Fair
- Student Success Centre Grad School Info One-Stop Shop

Experiential placements

Experiential placements put 47 students in the workplace to learn first-hand what various professions involve and gain valuable professional experience. Placements include both unpaid job shadow career placements (24 placements) and paid internships (23 internships).

Awards and funding

In 2019-20, 28 Social Sciences students received direct funding through the Office of Experiential Education. The majority of funds supported Undergraduate Research Awards (USRA) wherein 15 students from seven departments received awards. An additional seven students received funding through the Student Experience Fund and four students received funding through the Hamilton Matters Fund. This year, two faculty members were also given funds to enhance experiential learning in the classroom, impacting 274 students.

15

- SOCWORK 4D06/4DD6 (4 sections), General Social Work II/Field Practicum II
- SOCWORK 750/751, Leadership Seminar/Leadership Practicum

Community partnerships

Partnerships with community organizations provide hands-on skill development and integration of classroom theory in real-world scenarios. In 2019-20, Experiential Education worked with 82 community partners in the following sectors:

- Education
- Healthcare
- Government – Federal, Provincial and Municipal
- Private business
- Financial Institutions
- Non-for-profit

- 24 Ontario Graduate Scholarships

Other notable internal awards received by Social Sciences students include:

- 3 Harry Lyman Hooker (Master's)
- 2 Harry Lyman Hooker (Doctoral)
- 2 Harvey E. Longboat Graduate Scholarships

Financial matters

Faculty of Social Sciences budget

The table below presents high-level statement of our finances for 2019-20. A few aspects are noteworthy:

- Over 90 per cent of FSS revenue is derived from tuition and government funding for students enrolled in our programs and students we teach in our courses.
- Over 40 per cent of our revenue was paid as contributions to support central university support services, which range from heat to human resources to the library and to the President's Office.
- Beyond these central contributions, over 90 per cent of FSS expenditures are for people: faculty, staff and TA support.
- The Faculty now has a modest accumulated surplus which is integral to our fiscal sustainability going forward.
- The total accumulated consolidated surplus attributed to the FSS is $9.4 million. A large share is controlled by departments and individual faculty or research groups. For example, $2.8 million is controlled by departments and schools (discretionary accounts, TA funding allocations, etc.); another $600K is controlled by individual faculty as unspent PDA balances and similar accounts; and some is held in a small number of research-oriented accounts that roll up under the overall FSS budget. Taking this into account, $5.7 million remains that is under the discretionary control of the Faculty.
- COVID has introduced new uncertainty regarding our fiscal circumstances over the near term, which may require us to draw down the accumulated surplus.
